

Although yesterday's report indicated the Community Concert Association campaign is "over the top" for the minimum requirements of the 1949-50 concert season there is still time for late-comers to get on board.

But the important thing is to roll up as big a fund as possible so that the association managers can order more concerts and provide the lists of higher caliber.

The lists close tonight at Hotel Barlow. Get your check around there in time to be counted.

For the record, I want to say as indicated in the editorial of last Tuesday I not only bought my own concert tickets but the newspaper purchased four to use in whatever way it can to help advance the cause of good music.

O. A. Graves paid a nice tribute yesterday to the sentiment in last Tuesday's editorial that shows that the business and professional leaders of Hope think alike — while the years slip away from us we have an obligation to put the best of music and the cultural arts before the next generation.

A substantial amount from the business houses, as well as individuals, will make the difference between a good 1949-50 concert season and a grand one.

UP story about the river development appropriations caused four Arkansas congressmen to switch to the administration side and pigeon-hole the Wood labor bill leaves it an open question whether Newsweek is shooting at the congressmen or the president.

The magazine would make it appear that congressmen were "persuaded."

Or, putting it bluntly, that the administration got out the well-known club which can be used either against patronage or public works in a congressman's state or district.

Newsweek has Governor McMath involved in the case, too — but a Washington (D. C.) labor columnist claims prior right to this "discovery."

It's all very exciting, of course — but still strictly a matter of journalistic speculation by Newsweek, since all parties concerned vigorously deny everything.

The only shadow across the scene is the fact that neither the first nor the last such incident in the life of the American Congress.

Until we get the actual facts, however, we will continue to believe that public works stand on merit, that they have no connection with public policy or labor or other current matters... and if there is any truth in Newsweek's report it will be more troublesome for the guy who swung the club than for the four who were swung at.

I shouldn't end a sentence on a preposition — but you know what I mean.

Voice Fear for Safety of Atom Security

By OLIVER W. DE WOLF

Washington, May 21 — (AP) — Two Republican senators, who have given fears over atomic security, today blasted the administration of the atomic energy program under Chairman David E. Lilienthal.

They spoke out in the latest of a long series of developments centering around the commission's multi-million dollar scientific educational program and the loss of a small quantity of uranium-235 from the Argonne National Laboratory, Chicago.

They also spoke out on the lack of security in the handling of atomic secrets in the hands of the new law.

Senator Wherry (R-Neb) GOP floor leader, said in a separate interview that "I'm still apprehensive of leaving the atomic energy secrets in the hands they are now in."

Both senators are members of a senate appropriations subcommittee investigating the commission's fellowship program. Both opposed Lilienthal when the senate confirmed him for the chairmanship on April 9, 1947.

"I believe the evidence indicates right up to this minute my vote against Mr. Lilienthal," Wherry said.

The congressional criticism of the commission's security practices didn't keep the senate from confirming Dr. Henry De Wolf Smyth, Princeton University physics professor, and Gordon Dean, Visiting Calif. teacher and attorney, as members of the atomic energy commission yesterday.

But while the two nominations went through with scarcely a murmur of opposition, Wherry set off a flurry of criticism of the commission when he disclosed that Dr. Isador Adelman was awarded a $3,750 fellowship to carry on medical research at Harvard University, after being denied atomic security clearance.

Lilienthal, testifying before the appropriations group at the time, said the young doctor is not a Communist, but failed to get clear.

Berlin Workers Strike Against Russian Bosses

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Berlin, May 21 — (AP) — Twelve thousand striking railway workers fought young Communists today in the role of strike breakers today in nearly a dozen stations of Berlin's elevated railway.

The fighting, which raged through the morning, broke out when the Communist strike breakers today in nearly a dozen stations of Berlin's elevated railway.

Hundreds were injured during the fighting, which raged through the morning, broke out when the Communist strike breakers today in nearly a dozen stations of Berlin's elevated railway.

An elevated passenger train was set ablaze during one melee. Clothing was torn from women who got into the fight.

Western Berlin police said Maj. Gen. Pavel Kvashnin, transport chief of the Soviet zone, was in the street and threatened by a group of strikers at the Tempelhof elevated station in the American sector.

The police said they gave Kvashnin protection from the strikers and he was able to drive away in his staff automobile without physical injury. Another Soviet transport officer of junior rank was stoned by strikers at the Hermannstrasse station, also in the American sector, police said. He was reported not seriously injured.

This is the crux of the situation: The Soviet-appointed, Reichsbahn management controls both zonal railroads and Berlin's entire elevated line. Railway workers went out on strike early today to enforce their demand for payment of wages in West marks instead of East marks. West marks are four times as valuable as the Soviet zone currency.

Fighting broke out when the Russian-controlled management sent squads of militant young Communists, including teen age girls, into the Western sectors of the city to "recapture" elevated stations seized by the anti-Communist strikers.

The strikers outnumbered the Communist strike breakers. Both sides fought with clubs, showers of stones and tear gas.

Western Berlin police fought side by side with the strikers against the Communists and Soviet-controlled railway police. In breaking one fight, the policemen fired their pistols into the air. That was the only shooting.

Seems Your Government Is in Trouble

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, May 21 — (AP) — If your shirt's too short to stuff into your pants, you're going around with some skin showing.

And that's about what all the talk of government economy boils down to: How to get your shirt and pants together.

In this case government expenses are the pants, and government revenue is the shirt. It's beginning to look too short.

But the whole picture gets hazier as the days pass and the arguments about economy in government become more and more confused. So here is an ABC on it.

Take the government debt first since the whole argument revolves around that. The debt now is around $251,500,000,000.

That's the money the government has had to borrow over the years, particularly the war years, to keep going.

It borrowed because government expenses were greater than its revenue — the money collected in taxes from people and the ABC on it.

What President Truman and congress want is to see revenue greater than expenses. Why?

So that, after paying expenses, some money will be left over to pay off some of the debt.

If expenses become greater than revenue again, the government will have to borrow more money to keep going and get deeper into debt.

Graves Defeated for State Bar Office

John Lookadoo, Arkadelphia, defeated O. A. Graves of Hope for vice-president of the Arkansas Bar Association. Mr. Lookadoo will become president in 1951.

Hot Springs, May 21 — (AP) — The Arkansas Bar Association postponed indefinitely consideration of the most controversial issue which faced it at this year's convention.

The association by a standing vote yesterday, put off any action on the proposed reorganization of the Arkansas court system.

Today the group was to wind up its 51st annual meeting.

Under the reorganization plan there would be a single court of justice with appellate and trial divisions. Judges would be appointed, but could be removed by popular vote. A constitutional amendment would be necessary for adoption of the plan.

Cecil Warner of Fort Smith was elevated from vice president to president of the association. He succeeds A. F. House of Little Rock. John H. Lookadoo, Arkadelphia, defeated O. A. Graves, Hope, 180-171, for vice president.

Contract Let for Nashville, Ozan Paving

Little Rock, May 21 — (UP) — To by-pass or not to by-pass the city of West Memphis with a proposed new super-highway in eastern Arkansas was still the question facing the state highway commission today.

The entire picture was given a new shade following a surprising turn of events here after John H. Crain of Wilson went to the commission to the by-pass route.

Crain recommended a route to the commission that would start at the approaches to the new Mississippi river bridge and continue westward, over the bridge, to the intersection of U. S. Highways 61 and 63.

Crain contended that such a road would service all the major high-ways in eastern Arkansas. The 20-mile super-road, in place of the previously proposed eight-mile route, apparently was to be programmed over a three-year period.

Former County Judge Cy Bond of Crittenden county presented the West Memphis side of the argument to the commission with another new proposal. Bond suggested a route through the northern part of the city and then swinging northward just east of the railroad line. He claimed such a route would be shorter and more economical to build.

The commission took no action on either plan and authorized Chief Highway Engineer A. E. Johnson to prepare a report on all suggested routes for the relocation of Highway 61, together with anticipated costs. Johnson said the report would be ready for submission within two weeks.

The commission also adopted a resolution calling for rigid enforcement of the 45-miles-per-hour speed limit for trucks and 55-miles-per-hour for buses. The resolution also placed special emphasis on this action by calling State Police Director Herman Lindsey into the meeting and informing him of the resolution.

The action was taken after Johnson declared that violations of the speed limits by heavier vehicles had caused heavier impacts on the state's roads and "was virtually tearing them to pieces."

The commission also approved a nine-ton increase in the maximum gross load for trucks. Commissioner Crain protested but despite his objections the load limit was boosted from 34,000 to 72,000 pounds. Other commissioners said they were voting for the increase because of a promise made by Gov. McMath to trucksters in obtaining passage of the truck license fee increase in the 1949 legislature.

The commission awarded contracts to seven low bidders for nine state highway road projects totaling approximately $1,425,000, but one of the successful bidders are located in Arkansas.

The total amount of the contracts was about $53,000 below highway department pre-bidding estimates.

The projects, successful bids and contractors were:

Fourteen miles of grading and gravel base course on the Blackfish Lake to U. S. Highway 75 road, State Highway 70, in St. Francis county. McGee Construction Co., of Pine Bluff, $301,585.

Ten miles of blacktop on Washburn-Northeast road, State Highway 44 in Phillips county—Grady Garms of Little Rock, $114,620.

Five miles of blacktop on Nashville-Ozan road, state highway 4 in Hempstead and Howard counties — Ben M. Hogan of Little Rock, $129,843.

The board of directors and executives committee will meet at the Barlow tonight at 8 o'clock.

Today Is Last to Purchase Concert Ticket

Door Open for Talks on Greece With Russia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, May 21 — (AP) — Diplomats said today the United States and Britain may hold the door open to further behind-the-scenes discussions of the Greek situation with Russia — if the Soviets are still interested.

They said there is some doubt Russia would engage in such talks, following the flat stand taken by the two western nations on Soviet proposals for settlement of the Greek civil war. And they predicted further that the West will reject any Russian suggestion which could give the Communists a strong new foothold in Greece.

The state department stressed yesterday that any actual settlement will have to be handled within the United Nations, where Greece can sit in on the discussions. But western officials apparently are ready to hold informal talks on the matter any time the Russians want to do so.

The possibility was not entirely ruled out that Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky might raise the question with British Foreign Minister Bevin and Secretary of State Acheson at Paris.

A Tass news agency dispatch in Moscow early yesterday gave the first semi-official words that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had been talking with British and American officials at the United Nations about ending the Greek war. British Minister of State Hector McNeill and Assistant Secretary of State Dean Rusk represented the Western powers.

North, South Baptists to Air Problems

By HOWARD COWAN

Oklahoma City, May 21 — (AP) — The Southern Baptist convention tip-toed up to a discussion of "common problems with Northern Baptists" today — a delicate item in view of the Southern Baptists' decision to meet next year in Northern-Baptist-dominated Chicago.

The Rev. T. C. Gardner, Dallas, Tex., was slated to report on a year's study of the Northern-Southern situation at the 92nd convention's concluding business session.

A youth rally tonight and an evangelistic service Sunday night will close the five-day convention, host to more than 9,000 Baptists.

The president, Dr. Robert C. Lee, Memphis, Tenn., hastened last night to clarify the Southern Baptists' decision to go to Chicago in 1950.

In 1949, the convention has not gone farther north than St. Louis.

"I acknowledge that this may be misinterpreted and labeled as religious imperialism," he said. "But the Southern Baptist convention is not meeting in Chicago to flirt with any Northern Baptist Convention church or Baptist body with the purpose to get their affiliation with the Southern Baptist convention."

The decision to meet in Chicago was one of several incidents which led some churchmen to believe the Southern Baptists were embarking on a drive to spread their sphere of influence to all parts of the United States.

They voted to meet two years hence in San Francisco.

The Southern Baptists passed up Harrison, Ark., to locate a summer assembly in Glorieta, N. M., near Santa Fe.

And the convention voted unanimously yesterday to welcome into the Southern Baptist fold 24 churches in Oregon and Washington heretofore strictly northern Baptist territory.

The red hot issue of Southern Baptists' fraternization with organizations linked with the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America flared up in Glorieta.

A committee headed by Dr. Louie D. Newton, Atlanta, Ga., recommended a change in by-laws defining the right of Baptist churches to affiliate with anyone they please.

The report was promptly rejected after the Rev. Bunyan Smith, Nashville, Tenn., charged it was a move to sanction Baptist churches affiliating directly or indirectly with the federal council.

Negro School Teachers Are Elected

James H. Jones, Superintendent of schools, announced today the election of the Negro teachers for the school year 1949-50. Assignments to schools will be announced at a later date. The teachers are as follows:

Ninas M. Brown, Velma Redd Frye, E. N. Gover, T. A. Hamilton, M. Lucine Harris, William E. Miller, Alfareta S. Walker, Geraldine Wilson, Louise J. Yarger, Myrtle Yarger, Naomie R. Yarger, Ruth Lee Andrews, Ethel Bizzell, Emma S. Cooper, Jimmie M. Henderson, Georgia Yarger, Gurtha Williamson, Mary Fellington Brown, Neva Curmichael, Capatoria Smith, J. W. Walker, Lula Benton, Carolyn Brown, Fannie Be Buchanan, Edna S. Conway, J. C. Wright, H. C. Brunson, Parthenia Bowles, Jodie Walker, Doris D. Ford.

W. M. McFadden, teacher at Haynes Chapel, will be retired at the end of the present school year.

Hempstead War Bond Sales Total $21,940

With the Opportunity Savings Bonds Drive locally opening May 16, four counties had reached their respective quotas and sales throughout the state amounted to $2,900,831, or 42.8 per cent of the $6,780,000 assignment. Hempstead county reported sales of $21,940, or 24.2 percent of the local objective. C. K. Wilkerson, state director reports.

Included in the counties "over the top" and percentage of quotas achieved are Calhoun, 308.1 per cent; Fulton, 111.9 per cent; Pike, 131.4 per cent; Randolph, 184.6 per cent.

'Secession' Is Cry at SE Conference

Birmingham, May 21 — (UP) — The cry of "secession" so raucous last week ago, tapered to a whisper at the Southeastern Conference of directors and coaches gathered for their annual meeting.

Actually, the meeting was little more than an informal "get-together" at which SEC athletic officials usually discuss and seek to iron out small problems. The main items had to be reserved for the big conference meeting in Atlanta next Saturday, when the college presidents, holding the balance of power, will be present.

Earlier reports mushrooming across Dixie had said the SEC would vote to slash all ties with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which embraced the same code forbidding all financial aid to athletes.

Rumors had the SEC joined in its "secession" by the Southern and Southwest Conferences. The reports sounded plausible enough, since 118 SEC football games last fall involved 94 encounters within the three circuits.

Any approval upon the secession, however, would be contingent upon the final okay of the college presidents, who have in the past expressed themselves conservatively on such issues.

Dr. Blake Van Leer, Georgia Tech and Southeastern Conference president, had already said he anticipated in country of the view.

As to the possible attitudes of prominent southern bowl organizations, Orange Bowl President Daniel J. Manoney said his group was interested only in picking the best teams to give the public the best game possible on New Year's day.

Charges U. S. 'Black Market' in Babies

Los Angeles, May 21 — (UP) — Public orphanages are supporting a nationwide "black market" in babies by retaining children who should be made available for adoption, the head of the Adopted Children's Association of America said today.

"The whole trouble is that these institutions have to justify themselves," said Miss Georgia Tamm of Memphis, Tenn., during an interview. She was here on a visit to the local chapter of the organization.

Miss Tamm, who also is assistant state superintendent of the children's division of the Tennessee Department of Children's Services, and head of its Shelby county division, said "all you have to do is check the records."

"Look at the budgets of your state welfare divisions now and 10 years ago, and compare the number of workers they have with the number 10 years ago," she said. "You'll find they are both increased tremendously."

She said the ACA hopes to establish chapters eventually in every state and facilitate the placing of children in adoptive homes instead of in institutions of foster boarding homes.

"A child has a right to the security of a permanent home," she said.

"The way things are today, you can find records of many a youngster who stayed in an institution or a foster boarding home from birth until adulthood without ever being visited by a member of his family."

She said exact figures on the number of adoptable children in institutions were unavailable but that the figure "would be high."

The ACA has chapters now in Memphis, Los Angeles and New York and Miss Tamm said she would go soon to form chapters in Chicago and Maryland.

"I'd like to hear from every family in the United States that would like to adopt a child, from everyone who knows of a child who should be made available for adoption," she said. "Then we might be able to find a way to bring them together."

"She said institutional care was a waste of public money."

"We pay for these institutional homes either in taxes or in donations," she said. "And it takes one social worker for every 25 children."

"But an organization with as few as eight workers can place 300 children a year for adoption," she said. She said the public attitude toward adoption has improved in the past 30 years.

"It used to be something to hush up and something that the best families wouldn't think of doing. Now every state has a long wait list of persons wanting to adopt children."

She hopes adoption laws some day will be uniform throughout the country, with perhaps one big national organization to place babies in every state.

Tornadoes Lash Four States, Leaving 1 Dead

By The Associated Press

At least one person was killed. Nearly a score were injured. Property damage was unestimated.

Hardest hit was Oklahoma. But twisters struck at scattered communities in Colorado, Kansas and, far across the Mississippi valley, caught two small eastern Tennessee communities.

The Kansas City weather bureau blamed the mad May disturbances on a "fourth" Oklahoma's "fourth" straight night of twisters — on a deep low pressure "trough" ranging up through northwestern Oklahoma to Nebraska.

In addition to the tornadoes that struck, perhaps a dozen others were seen whirling just above the land in the sparsely settled plains country.

Most of the communities hit were small. In Oklahoma there was damaged reported at Balker, Beaver, Catoosa, Cherokee, Gage, Jeter, Kansas, Latta, Mayfield, Woodward and Yewand.

Blows in Kansas were

Mrs. Inez Staats Hostess to Beta Sigma Phi Sorority

The Alpha Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, met Friday evening in the home of the president, Mrs. Inez Staats, on North Washington St.

The meeting opened with the members repeating the opening ritual. Mrs. Staats presided over the business session at which time plans were made to hold a rummage sale Saturday, May 28. Plans for a picnic to be held soon were made and a report from the social committee was given. The secretary, Mrs. Ira Yocom, Jr., read the minutes of the previous meeting. The treasurer's report was given by Miss Nellie Jean Bailey.

Following the business session, a pledge training program was held at which time, traditions and the calendar of the sorority were discussed.

Miss Ethyle Schmidt, program chairman, presented a very interesting and instructive program on "Painstaking the Body."

During the social hour, the hostess served strawberry shortcake, topped with cream, to twelve members and one guest, Miss Nell Cox. She was assisted in serving by her little son, Billy, and her mother, Mrs. Claude Taylor.

Greek Archbishop Dies Suddenly at Age of 58
Athens, May 20 — (AP) — Archbishop Damaskinos, former regent of Greece, died suddenly today. He was 58.

The archbishop, who ruled Greece as regent from 1944 to 1946, had been in poor health for the past several months. He suffered from heart trouble.

Damaskinos, who was Greek Orthodox primate, took over the reins of troubled Greece after its liberation from the Germans, to serve until a plebiscite was held on the return on the monarchy. When Greece voted for the return on the monarchy. When Greece Damaskinos relinquished the position.

Arkansas Child Bride May Be Returned

Orange, Texas, May 20 — (AP) — An Arkansas child bride and her 32-year-old Louisiana husband are held by Orange police for return to Arkansas.

They are Lee Bourge, 32, of Vincennes, La., and 14-year-old Lillie Frances Callahan Bourge of Clarksville, Ark.

They were married May 12 in Port Arthur, Texas, after coming from the same day by separate buses.

At Clarksville Sheriff Lloyd Yarbrough said Bourge is charged with abandoning Lillie Frances' sister, Minnie, about 18, whom he married less than a year ago. The sheriff said Minnie is an expectant mother.

Yarbrough also has issued warrants charging Bourge with carnal abuse and contributory delinquency and Lillie Frances with juvenile delinquency.

The sheriff said Bourge and Minnie had been living at the home of her parents near Clarksville but that last Thursday both Bourge and Lillie Frances disappeared. He sent a deputy sheriff here to pick up the pair.

CIO Leftwingers Given 5 Months to Break Ties

By MAX HALL
Washington, May 19 — (AP) — CIO left wingers have been given five months to break all ties with the Russian-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions and quit defying the CIO leadership.

With that ultimatum the organization's 52-man executive board prepared today to end a fiery three-day meeting, which ran a day over schedule because the argument lasted so long.

If the left-wing unions don't like the WFTU, they may be kicked out of the CIO.

President Philip Murray said the board would declare itself on wages at the next convention starting Oct. 31 at Cleveland, Ohio.

Murray said, too, that the board "more than likely" would adopt a plank rejecting CIO minority that has been attacking the national organization.

This resolution was expected to clear the path for decisive action at the next convention starting Oct. 31 at Cleveland, Ohio.

But even without such a resolution, the board and Murray already have made it very plain that the Cleveland convention will be a hot one.

Deep South Schools May Move Out of NCA Association

Birmingham, Ala., May 20 — (AP) — Southeastern Conference coaches tomorrow will consider proposals which may take the deep South schools out of the National Collegiate Athletic association.

The issue is the NCAA's ban on coaches who outlaws aid to college students solely because of their athletic ability.

Coaches will discuss four possible changes in present rules. All would permit financial help for athletes.

The coaches also will discuss what might happen to the SEC if it withdraws from the NCAA. The latter adopted the ban in 1948, and applied it to its 400 members.

Official conference action may come at a May 28 meeting in Atlanta. That is the date of a joint session with the Southern and Southwest conferences.

The announced purpose of that meeting is to discuss the ban on coaches. Written announcements to SEC officials include a topic to be discussed, this question: "Can the three conferences withdraw (from the NCAA) and combine and successfully conduct an Athletic program?"

He reached the cliff, moved quickly along its base. She found just above high tide mark a small pile of freshly dislodged rocks and debris.

Far above a lighter spot on the cliff face told where the fragments had come from. Still farther up, the rocky, craggy cliffs showed a rock plant were crushed.

She retraced her steps back to the dock, realized the tide was coming in since half of the line of prints she'd made were gone. "A NCA's bread for me on the tide," she said aloud. "I wouldn't care if it was going out. I'd rather leave footprints. Perhaps someone else felt that way too."

She unlocked the storehouse and began loading the car. Finish button, she pushed the signal button, she returned at once to the storehouse.

Like the tunnels above under the main house, these rooms too were cut from the solid rock. In the large room, Bea found many drums of gasoline. Enough to fuel the generators for years to come.

The screams were louder, fore faintly. She hurried out the wooden entrance to the rock rooms. The screams were louder, more frantic.

The car had come down with Agnes Firth.

She sat bolt upright, eyes shut. A flailing hand hit the lever on the side. Her fingers gripped it.

Bea yelled. "Don't pull that lever! Agnes!" She was so close to see Miss Firth's white knuckles on the iron dump lever. It moved.

The downward end of the car dropped again as she started falling.

Bea caught her under the armpits, held her with legs dangling out over the seething water.

CIO Moving Toward Big Shakeout

Washington, May 20 — (AP) — The CIO has shoved the leaders of its left-wing minority toward an outright break with the parent organization, and more shoves are coming.

This is the meaning of the three-day meeting of the 52-man CIO executive board which ended last night with the board's demand for the resignation of all its members who won't abide by official CIO policies.

Nobody resigned.

CIO President Philip Murray said the CIO is facing up to a "communist situation" which must be dealt with at the CIO convention starting Oct. 31 in Cleveland.

Harry Bridges, head of the CIO longshoremen's union, who was by far the most talkative of the left-wing group at the board meeting, told a reporter the board action had "nothing to do with communism." He said it was strictly a question of whether CIO unions are to run their own affairs or whether they must take orders from the CIO.

Bridges also said he wouldn't resign from the board or lead his union out of the CIO.

Murray and the board, by a three-day stream of stern warnings and resolutions, told the left-wingers—and especially Bridges—that if they don't end their defiance of CIO decisions, support of the Marshall plan, they will be dealt with by the convention.

Murray pointed out to newsmen that the convention has power to revoke union charters and knock out members of the 52-man CIO executive board.

All of the CIO's 41 unions are represented on the board. Most of them are represented by their presidents.

There are 11 unions in the left-wing group that has been opposing Murray's leadership and CIO policies.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

The Story: Strange undercurrents to the 100-foot cliff on the other side of the cove.

A small wave whipped in, slapped viciously at her knees in a sudden deepening of water. He staggered seaward, went deeper. The water rushed back from the steep beach, nudging him, trying to knock her completely off balance.

She leaned toward the land, swinging her arms.

Then in an instant she was free, could make the few steps which would take her to the shore.

He reached the cliff, moved quickly along its base. She found just above high tide mark a small pile of freshly dislodged rocks and debris.

DOROTHY DIX

Qualifications for Wifehood

Dear Dorothy Dix: Not long ago you published an article in your column entitled "What makes a man a good husband?" Will you please write a companion piece to it on "What makes a woman a good wife?"

Answer: Well, taking it by and large, I think it takes a larger assortment of virtues, and more know-how to make a woman a good wife than it does to make a man a good husband. It is a harder job, with more angles to it, and hence, more difficult to get satisfaction. It's like being a husband. You expect their wives to keep young and good-looking, but wives don't expect their husbands to maintain their boyish figures and keep their hair.

But coming down to brass tacks, I think that a thing that goes farthest towards making a woman a good wife is for her to be easy to live with. That is the virtue above all other virtues that every husband desires in his wife. He wants a wife who, in the words of the old poet, is to his faults blind, to his virtues very kind.

Next, I would rate a sense of humor as a "must" among wifely virtues. Every marriage is bound to have a lot of ups and downs in it. No husband is without his aggravating peculiarities, no children are not at times little pests. There are sickness and hard times in practically every family. But the ideal wife is the woman who can laugh things off, instead of having hysterics over them; who turns a smiling face on life and backs her family up with her courage.

A good wife is a woman who makes a career of wifehood. She takes it on the level. She doesn't expect her husband to be something that he is not and never can be. She knows all his faults and defects, but she never reproaches him with them. She makes of her love a cloak that hides his imperfections from others.

Good Provider.
The woman who is a good wife is a good provider. She is a good cook and feeds her family well and wisely. Her house is always tidy and a place of rest and peace.

In a word, it sums up to this: The good wife is a woman who tries as hard as she can to make of being a wife as would at any other profession. She doesn't nag. She doesn't browbeat her husband. She doesn't whine. She doesn't neglect her children. She is the prop and stay of the family. She is a friend, counselor and guide to her household. And you will find her everywhere, except in the divorce court.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a war bride and away from home and my husband and I fight over the should read my letters first. He says he should, but I think that I should because they are always to hear from my family.

Which of us do you think should read the letters first?

Answer: The individual to whom a letter is addressed has the privilege of opening it and reading it. That is a universal rule which is respected by everyone who has any sense of decency. In your case the offense of your husband opening your letters before you have seen them is particularly unforgivable, because they come from your own family in a faraway country from whom you are always anxious to hear.

Perhaps when your husbands think this over he will see how cruel he is in not letting you have first glimpse of the letters that mean so much to you and practically nothing to him except as satisfaction of vulgar curiosity.

Dear Miss Dix: All I want to know is if it is possible for a girl at the age of 17 to be in love. I think I am, but I am not too sure. Everyone thinks it is just puppy love. Do you think it can be that, or is it the real thing?

Answer: Most girls and boys

Relates How His Wife Was 'Seduced'

By WILLIAM EBERLINE
Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 20 — (AP) — Speaking at times in a whisper, Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr. today related his wife's confession that she was "seduced" by the man he is accused of slaying.

The young doctor said his wife told me the whole story of the affair with Byron C. Hatman which the defense has charged resulted in her dishonor last July 31.

Dr. Rutledge is charged with stabbing Hatman to death in a Cedar Rapids hotel room fight last Dec. 14.

After testifying calmly as to his early life, the defendant's demeanor changed when questioning turned to his love for blonde Sydney Rutledge and the troubles which came to them. His voice sank low and broke at times.

"When you first met Sydney Goodrich did you fall in love with her," Defense Attorney R. S. Miller asked.

"Well, almost the first time," Dr. Rutledge said.

He said he loves her now and has loved her "at all times" since their marriage in 1946.

The young doctor's wife left the courtroom when he began his testimony.

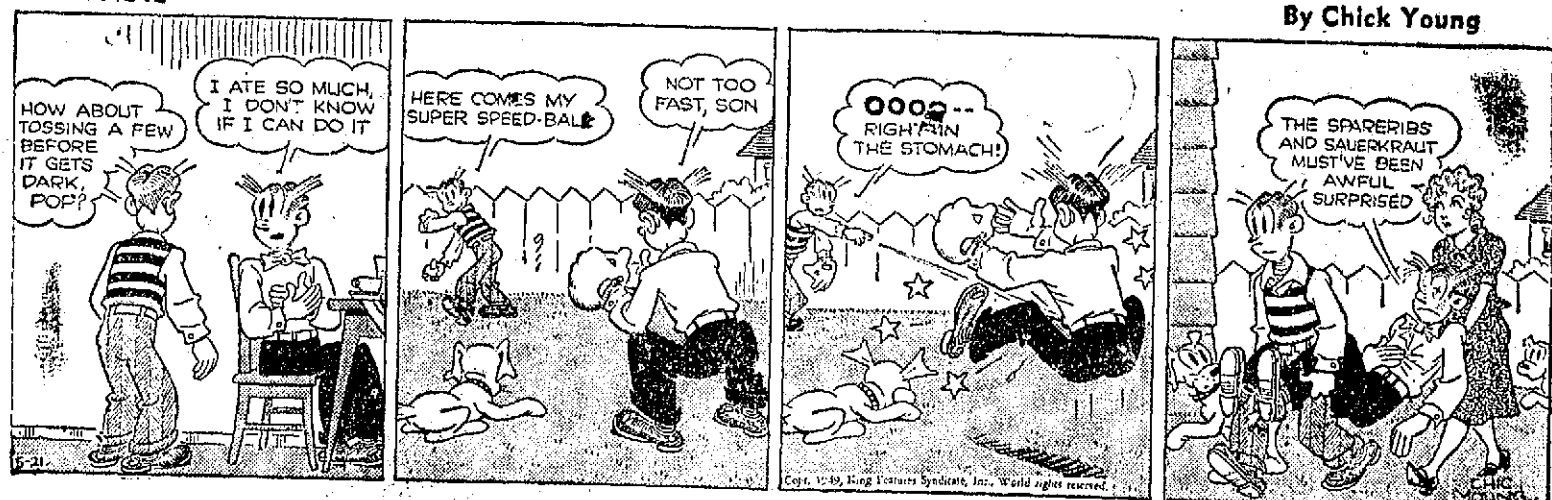

He told how he overheard a locker room conversation at the Nordwood country club in St. Louis last Aug. 10.

A line-up of high-ranking Russian brass gets into the act during the dedication of a huge war memorial in the Soviet sector of Berlin. The monument, made out of marble from Hitler's torn-down Reich Chancellery, was dedicated to the 7000 Red Army soldiers who lost their lives in the battle for Berlin in April and May, 1945. Five thousand Russian troops attended the ceremony.

Weatherman Predicts End to Tornadoes

By United Press

The weather bureau reported today that a high pressure area building up over the Pacific ocean may halt the series of almost 30 tornadoes that struck the west and southwest this week.

A dozen more twisters hit again in Kansas, Oklahoma and Tennessee last night. Since Sunday, scarcely a day has passed without a tornado somewhere in the midlands.

A forecaster said the weather conditions were still "unstable" over the Mississippi valley today but that the high pressure area forming on the Pacific might sweep inland to end the plague of twisters tomorrow.

Several persons were reported injured or missing after yesterday's tornadoes, the worst of which was at shallow waters community near Rozel, Kans.

Six airplanes were wrecked, several buildings demolished and three persons hurt when a funnel hit the Woodward, Okla., air base. Another damaged buildings and planes at the Gauge, Okla., airport.

Other twisters hit at Shields, near Larned, Kans., west of Dodge City to Copeland in Kansas. Three small tornadoes ripped through Beaver, Okla.

At least four persons were injured in the Tennessee tornadoes that hit the towns of Coim, Barn City and Copeland in Kansas. Three small tornadoes ripped through Beaver, Okla.

Laramie, Wyo., was smothered under an eight inch fall of snow that made highways dangerous on mountain summits. The snow was preceded by rain and hail during a spectacular thunderstorm.

This Is His 134,000th Sneeze

Ker-chool And with sneeze No. 134,000 out of the way, Michael Hippisley, 14, of London, has nothing to worry about for three seconds—until No. 134,001 comes along. He has sneezed that many times in eight days. He has been unable to attend school and can sleep only with the aid of drugs. Doctors think his sneezing may be caused by an allergy, but they haven't been able to find out the exact cause. In the meantime, it's pretty monotonous—and tiring—for Michael.

Perhaps Humorists Are Right in Saying Saddest Thing on Earth Is the Human Race

By HAL BOYLE

New York, — (AP) — A lady poet once wrote: "Laugh and the world laughs with you."

If this were only true, H. Allen Smith—who is certainly no lady and probably no poet—would be a happy man indeed.

For his job is to make as much of the world laugh as he can. He writes funny books for a living.

Smith should be in a position to give a formula on how to be funny in print. Beginning in 1941 with "Low Man on a Totem Pole," his books have sold some 2,000,000 copies. His publisher says he is Mark Twain.

But Smith knows of no sure-fire formula for creating a belly laugh. "The problem a humorist faces," he said, "is that people are on different wave lengths. The public reacts differently. Humor is the most difficult form of expression for the reason that you are never sure of it. And there is nothing sadder than a joke that doesn't go."

"You have to tell yourself: to hell with the others—I'll write for those on my beam."

The humor wave lengths at his own four-acre homestead at suburban Mt. Kisco collide head-on. Smith's daughter, Nancy, 20, likes his writing but he doubts if his son, Allen, 21 has ever read one of his 11 books clear through.

"My wife's not on my wave length either," he said. "She looks at each succeeding manuscript and says, 'good God, you're not going to turn that in!'"

Mrs. Smith used to be society editor on a newspaper.

Smith himself began his career by shining shoes and sweeping up after a barber shop. He worked on a dozen papers as a wandering newspaperman, a career in which he felt a grammar school education was no real handicap.

He also has written a syndicated column, served as a radio emcee, and once wrote five lines for a movie during a six-month stay in Hollywood.

"I kept alive by writing funny memos to the boss," he said.

A humorist at work is as lonely as a fly at a DDT salesman's convention. Smith spends four hours every morning at his typewriter in a workshop over his garage. He writes swiftly.

"The thing I am proudest of in my newspaper life is that I was a helluva good rewrite man," he said.

He still is. He writes each book twice. The first time he races the government's business year starts) this was the picture: Expenses would run around $42 billion and revenue around $41 billion—or $1 billion more going out than was coming in.

So he asked congress to raise taxes about $4 billion, mostly on corporations and higher-income people.

This chilled congress to the bone. Instead of raising taxes, it said to Mr. Truman, expenses would have to be cut.

Then along came some other proposed expenses—like giving Europe arms—that Mr. Truman hadn't even listed in January.

This made the picture look even a little worse. But something else happened in the meantime that made it look worse than that:

This was a drop in prices, together with an increase in unemployment. That meant the government would be able to collect even less tax money.

So the critics in congress became even stronger for cutting government expenses. The lawmakers said things like this: "We may be heading into a bit of a business recession—if it's not already here—and that's no time to talk of raising taxes. So let's cut expenses."

Then a week ago congress' own tax experts—called the staff of the joint congressional tax committee—came up with a prophecy that made congress cry even louder for chopping down expenses. The experts said:

Because of the drop in business, in the fiscal year beginning July 1 the government will take only around $39 billion in taxes, not the $41 billion less (with revenue only $29 billion).

Meanwhile, as bill after bill (to pay expenses, starting July 1) gets passed to the senate, the senators pass them right merrily, not cutting them, but talking loudly of economy.

If at this point you can't figure out what congress is really going to do about cutting expenses, that's all right. Congress doesn't seem to be making much progress in figuring it out, either.

McClellan Scoffs at Pork in Barrel Charge

Washington, May 21 — (AP) — Senator McClellan of Arkansas doesn't think the flood control and navigation appropriation bill is "pork barrel legislation."

In senate debate yesterday on the measure, he criticized writers who used the phrase.

"In the bill before us we are simply undertaking in part to finance the development of our natural resources x x x," he said.

The Prescott Garden club observed the last meeting of the year with a picnic at the country home of Mrs. George Cashman on Tuesday afternoon May 17.

An informal program was given at the garden pool, under the direction of Mrs. Sidney Loomis and Mrs. Jack Cooper. On behalf of the club, Mrs. Wat White expressed appreciation to the retiring president, Mrs. Jesse Crow, for her excel leadership and presented to her a gift of a fishbowl and a gift from the club.

Mrs. Crow, in addition to serving as president, has the distinction of a perfect attendance at club meetings for five years. Mrs. Crow thanked the members for their loyalty and cooperation in putting over a fine years work.

She gave a resume of the club's activities. The highlights were planting of pine and redbud trees on the site of the old city park, landscaping the grounds around the Armory, upkeep of the Ethel McRae Memorial park along the railroad right-of-way, cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce in staging a state fair exhibit at the County Fair. Mrs. Crow was elected as delegate to the state meeting of Garden clubs to be held in Fort Smith June 6-8.

A fishing contest proved Mrs. J. W. Teeter to be the best fisherman with Mrs. C. A. Wynn running second. Both were awarded prizes.

Mrs. D. S. Jordan conducted an impressive installation service with the following officers assuming the following offices: Mrs. J. C. Cooper, president; Mrs. Lee Lemmer, first vice-president; Mrs. Ted McDaniel, second vice-president; Mrs. Vernon Fore, recording secretary; Mrs. Rucker Murry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. A. Wynn, treasurer; Mrs. Wat White, historian; Mrs. Sam O. Logan, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Cooper in her acceptance speech commended the retiring officers for their fine work and challenged the club to greater activity for the coming year. She appointed the following committees: Year Book, Mrs. L. E. Limmerhert, Mrs. LeRoy Phillips Mrs. George Cashman and Mrs. Ted McDaniel. Activities and Exhibits: Mrs. Watson White, Mrs. Jesse Crow and Mrs. Gordon Danner. Membership: Mrs. Warren Cummings. Mrs. W. C. Reeves and Mrs. J. W. Teeter. Conservation: Mrs. J. B. Hesterly. Mrs. Imou Gee and Mrs. Sewell Munn.

Guests were invited to the back yard where a picnic lunch was served by Mrs. Cashman and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Deway Stripling, Mrs. Gordon Danner and Mrs. H. E. Dorrice. A tour was made of the attractive home and the green-house of Mr. and Mrs. Cashman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Bemis and Mrs. Robert Duke of Dallas, Texas, were the Wednesday guests of Mrs. C. W. McKelvey and Mrs. Lillian Vaughn in Little Rock.

Nationalists Encouraged By Fact That U. S. Won't Recognize Red Government

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There is a tendency in some Chinese Nationalist circles to find encouragement in Secretary of State Acheson's statement to a senate committee that America won't recognize a Communist regime in China so long as a Nationalist government exists.

By the same token there's no reason to assume—at least as I see it—that the United States might not even give support to some new government, should such be formed by substantial and progressive elements and demonstrate that it could pull its weight. That idea, by the way, may not be so far fetched as might seem.

Generalissimo Chiang gets much of his support from powerful warlords. Those warlords might re-group and establish a new regime. As a matter of fact, Chiang might be smart if he encouraged just such a move in view of the political bankruptcy of his own government.

However, the generalissimo long ago demonstrated that he is a fighter. He has given no indication that he intends to withdraw from the picture, but appears to be exceedingly active in directing the defense against the Communist offensive from the north.

I hear from a good source that the Nationalists may abandon the project of establishing the government on the big island of Formosa. They are said to have concluded that while Formosa would make an admirable defensive position yet it would be too far removed from the heart of activities to make a good base for general purposes.

Therefore, the Nationalist high command is said to have decided to move the government back to the war-time capital of Chungking, if the Communists are able to continue their drive southward. Chungking would make a better rallying point, especially since the public associates it with victory against the Japanese and in the world war.

Mrs. Imou Gee and Mrs. Electa Wells spent the day in Texarkana Wednesday.
